

Starting Out

Episode 11 – What time is it?

Julia: Hi!

Sammy: What do you mean, hi?!

Julia: Well. Hi. Hello. Good evening!

Sammy: No, Julia, it's not good evening! It's twenty-five to six!

Julia: Ah. Come on, Sammy! I'm five minutes late. Five minutes!

Sammy: No, Julia! The film started at ten past five. You are 35 minutes late!

Julia: Uh-oh. Was our date for five o'clock? Sammy! Wait. ... Look, Zombie Attack starts at a quarter past six. What time is it now?

Sammy: Twenty to six. But I hate horror films.

Julia: Yes, me too.

Sammy: My Brother's Wedding starts at twenty past six.

Julia: My Brother's Wedding?

Sammy: It's a comedy.

Julia: Great! Let's watch that.

Sammy: OK.

Julia: OK. It's five to six. What time does the film start?

Sammy: At twenty past six.

Julia: Great. We've got 25 minutes. Just enough time for a coffee.

Sammy: No, let's join the queue and we can get a coffee after the film.

Julia: It's ten to eight.

Sammy: Time for coffee?

Julia: Yes! What a great film!

Sammy: Yeah. I love the way the main ...